WOMAN IS HURT; CHILD ESCAPES

Mrs. Charles Hurd Jumps When the Horse Taking Her to Glenwood
Tries to Run Away.

UNCONSCIOUS FOR AN HOUR

Trace Comes Undone, Shaft Pulls
Out and Horse Gets Scared—
Hat Saves Woman.

When she thought the horse was going to run away Mrs. Charles Hurd jumped from the wagon in which she was riding to Glenwood late yesterday afternoon and suffered painful, but not serious injuries. Mrs. Hurd's home is in Indianapolis. She had been visiting at the home of John Newkam, south of Glenwood, and was on her way to the station to return to her home when the accident happened.

Mr. Newkam was bringing Mrs. Hurd and baby to the station in a spring wagon. As they turned the corner at Reynold's store in Glenwood one trace came unfastened and the shaft dropped out of the haft loop. The horse became frightened and tried to run. This scared Mrs. Hurd and she jumped. She alighted on her head, and it is probable that her hat saved her from more serious injury. She was unconscious for about an hour, but after she regained consciousness it was found that she was not seriously injured. She was taken to the home of A. L. Chew, where she will remain until she is able to make the journey to her home. Drs. Elliott and Paxton were called and attended the injured woman. The remarkable fact about the accident is that Mrs. Hurd's infant child was not injured in the least.

Mrs. Hurd was formerly Miss Minnie Winchel and was reared south of Orange. Mr. Hurd arrived in Glenwood last night at eight o'clock and will remain with his wife until she is able to go to her home.

ELISHA SEXTON IS NEW POSTMASTER

Chairman of Republican Party in Shelby County Gets the Big Appointment.

FORMER TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE

Elisha Sexton of Shelby township, a stockman and farmer, known all over this and many neighboring counties, will succeed A. V. Randall as postmaster for this city, says the Shelbyville News. Formal announcement was made Thursday by Congressman William O. Barnard that he would recommend to President Taft the appointment of Mr. Sexton as postmaster for this city for the next four years. This means, of course, that Mr. Sexton gets the plum, as it is hardly probable that the President would turn down the recommendation of Mr. Barnard. No man in Shelby county has a greater number of friends than Mr. Sexton, and they will rejoice with him over his good fortune. He is the present county chairman of the Republican party and was formerly trustee of Shelby township. He has also served as president of the Shelby county Fair Association.

Dr. Frank Smith was taken to the Sexton sanitarium today to undergo an operation for gall and bladder trouble.

AT THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Rev. E. C. Myers of the Baptist Church Will Preach Sermon.

Arrangements have been made for the Thanksgiving service on next Thursday morning. It will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock. The Rev. E. C. Myers, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach the sermon. Special music will be arranged for the service.

PRES. MACKINTOSH TO MAKE ADDRESS

Speaker at First of Series of Men's Meetings Has For Topic,
"Philosophy of Life."

A RARE MUSICAL PROGRAM

Dr. George L. Mackintosh, president of Wabash college comes Sunday from Crawfordsville to deliver the address at the first of the series of Men's Big Meetings which will be held during the winter. The meeting will be held Sunday afternoon in the St. Paul's M. E. church at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Mackintosh is a deep thinker and a good lecturer. He will have for his subject, "A Philosophy of Life."

The lecture is not the only inviting thing on the program. A series of musical numbers which will begin at 2:00 o'clock have been arranged which will be well worth hearing. T. A. Craig will have charge of the music for all of the meetings. A. P. Wagoner's orchestra which furnished the music last winter will be on hands all this winter. As a special program for the first meeting, Hale Pearcey will sing a solo and the men's double quartet will render some selections.

BURIAL WILL BE HELD IN WESTPORT

Body of Clyde Davis Will Be Shipped to Home of His Parents
Tomorrow Morning.

FAMILY IS LEFT DESTITUTE

The body of Clyde Davis, who was killed yesterday at the Jacob Blackledge farm by a falling limb while cutting timber will be shipped to Westport tomorrow. The parents of the deceased reside there. A short funeral service will be held there tomorrow and the burial will take place in the Westport cemetery. The deceased is survived by a widow and four young children. They are left in destitute circumstances.

A coroner's inquest was held this morning and the witnesses of the accident were examined by the coroner, Dr. W. S. Coleman. He will file a report in a few days.

FOOLISH MAN.

Volney Caldwell, who sells forest trees, and who made a reputation for three campaigns by selling trees payable when Bryan is elected, said yesterday that he was not selling any trees on these terms now, but that if Mr. Bryan was a candidate again, he would again offer trees payable on the terms as in 1896, 1900 and 1908. He said further that he believed Mr. Bryan would be nominated in 1912 and would be elected.

WRANGLE OVER TAX COLLECTION

City Officials and County Authorities
Have Discussion on the Treasurer's Business.

CITY OPPOSES PRESENT PLAN

Officials Say They Have to Borrow
While Their Money Draws
Interest For County.

Will the Rush county treasurer continue to collect the city taxes or will he not? That's what the finance committee of the city council and the county authorities tried to settle last night. But they didn't. Instead the thing is just about as far from settlement as it ever was.

It all hinges on the meaning of an act passed by the last legislature. Several cities are up against the same proposition and in the main the cities are in favor of allowing the city treasurer to collect the taxes. At the conference held last night George W. Young, city attorney, gave it as his opinion that it was the city treasurer's business to collect the taxes. John A. Tittsworth, county attorney, gave as his opinion that the plan in use at present was right. And there you are.

The principal objection offered by the city officials is that the present plan loses the city money. They base this assertion on the following reasons. They say that the law allows them to make a settlement with the county treasurer only twice a year. They do not have enough money on hand to carry them over the six months between and they are forced to borrow money, the county treasurer deposits the city's money in the banks and the county draws two per cent interest on it, at the same time the city is paying out six per cent because it can't use its own money. This, the city officials say, loses them eight per cent. Another reason they are in favor of going back to the old system is that they lose now much by delinquencies which they formerly collected. For instance a man who couldn't pay his taxes worked on the streets and the tax money was held out of his wages. This can not be done under the present system.

County Attorney Tittsworth in answering the arguments of the city officials, says that there is no need of the city borrowing money from the banks, that there is a provision which allows them to get the money temporarily from the county treasurer. Meanwhile the argument goes on.

CLELL MAPLE IS ELECTED

Selected Treasurer of State Associa-

HOLDS 3 MILE LAW INVALID

Supreme Court Returns a Sweeping Decision on Act Which Was Questioned Here.

MUCH SPECULATION TODAY

On What Will Follow This Important
Finding—Local Attorneys Are Interested.

The three mile road law was declared unconstitutional yesterday by the Indiana supreme court. The decision has created much interest here and there is much speculation on the effect it would have. One attorney said this morning that although he had not read the decision in full there were some indications that all the bonds issued on the vast improvements made under this law would be invalidated.

The Indianapolis News yesterday had the following on the decision:

The Supreme court today decided that the law for building gravel roads by taxation is unconstitutional. The decision is not limited to declaring the invalidity of the "three-mile-law" but applies to all provisions of the amended highway act of 1905, which authorize free gravel roads to be paid for by taxation levied on all the property in the township, instead of assessments on the land benefited.

The court decides that this part of the law is invalid, because it only authorizes gravel roads to be constructed by taxation on "a petition signed by fifty or more freeholders and voters of any township . . . which includes any incorporated city or town . . . having a population of less than thirty thousand inhabitants." This provision is held to make the law a local and special act.

Judge Jordan said: "These requirements of the law manifestly exclude, first, every township which does not have an incorporated town or city with a population of fewer than thirty thousand; second, every and all townships which have no incorporated town or city whatever. . . . Can it, with any color of reason, be claimed that townships, wherein there is an incorporated city of less than thirty thousand inhabitants, are in a class by themselves, so as to afford a reasonable basis for making a law applicable to improving highways applicable alone to them?"

"Certainly such a classification is not a natural or reasonable one. It can not be said to inhere in the subject matter of laying out, establishing and improving public highways.

"We conclude and so hold that Section 63 of the act in question (Section 7712, Burns, 1908) is unconstitutional and therefore void. Excepting Section 81, it may be said that all the sections of the act which appear and follow under the caption, 'Gravel roads by taxation,' from Section 62 to 82 (Sections 7711-7733, Burns, 1909, inclusive) depend upon said Section 63 and are so mutually connected and associated therewith that each and all must go down together."

On the foregoing opinion the supreme court reversed a judgment by which the circuit court had refused to enjoin the board of commissioners of Hamilton county from letting contracts for the construction of more than $40,000 of gravel road improvements under that law, and to issue bonds in payment, which should in turn, be paid by taxation.

U. G. Beaver Sells Five Cars in Cincinnati For $6560.

Ulysses G. Beaver made a good shipment to Cincinnati yesterday. He shipped four car loads of hogs, and one car of cattle to the market there, and he sold the lot for $6560. Mr. Beaver says he thinks this is a good indication that the farmers in Rush county are enjoying prosperity.

SERVICES ARE NEARING CLOSE

Evangelist Bell Will Preach Until Sunday Night at Least at Baptist Church.

MEETING FOR WOMEN SUNDAY

Evangelistic meetings are still in progress at the First Baptist church, with a good interest. While it is not now determined just how long they will continue, the following services are announced: Tonight at 7:30, Saturday night at 7:30, Sunday morning at 10:30 and Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Evangelist Bell will speak at all these services, and the public is cordially invited to attend and consider the vital truths that will be presented.

In addition to the above, a special service is announced for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, for the women. Mr. Bell will speak at this meeting and special music will be provided. All women, both young and old are urged to be present.

It might be suggested that these meetings are drawing near the closing point and those who want to enjoy them, and receive the help to be derived therefrom, had rather make the most of the opportunity while it is available.

CITIZENS LIKE CITY GOVERNMENT

Dean Norris of New Castle Tells of His Observations on Affairs in Rushville.

OPINION OF MAYOR COWING

Dean Norris of the New Castle Courier, writing from this city, says among other things:

Rushville assumed a city form of government in September, 1882, that certain improvements might be made, which, under the laws of those days, could not be made with a town form of government. Although Rushville boasts only of 6000 inhabitants, under no circumstances would the citizens vote for a return to the town form of government.

Mayor Cowing was greatly surprised to learn that New Castle is still a town, but stated that he believed the Rose City would be greatly benefited by a change to a city form of government. There are sources of revenue in a city which are not enjoyed by a town. For instance, the police court produces a certain amount of revenue, which under the town government, does the municipality absolutely no good at all.

EARL T. HALL IS SENT TO PRISON

Man Who Swindled Rushville Physician is Found Guilty in Wayne
Circuit Court.

ALLEGED INSURANCE GRAFT

President of Company Says he Il-ways Did Think Accused Man
Was a Crook.

Earl T. Hall, who swindled a local physician out of $30 was found guilty of embezzlement at Richmond yesterday. Hall operated the same scheme, which he worked here, at Richmond, Muncie and Cincinnati. Bench warrants were sent out for him from the local court and if he had been acquitted at Richmond he would have been brought here. He was sentenced to two to fourteen years at the Michigan City prison.

That he believed Hall a crook when he signed a contract with the Western Reserve Life Insurance company of Muncie, was the testimony given by David C. Campbell, president of the company during the trial. He testified in behalf of the State against Hall for alleged embezzlement of $71.10 from Dr. Charles Marvel; $10.15 from Dr. Mora S. Bulla and $30.15 from Dr. R. J. Morrison.

Mr. Campbell testified that Hall signed up with the company to act as their agent under the name of Shafer. He said also that he noticed the initials E. T. H. in his hat which caused him to believe that Hall was not truly representing himself.

The evidence was considered to be as favorable to the defendant as to the State by Wilfred Jessup, counsel for the defendant. The testimony was much of a surprise to both sides.

LOCAL ALUMNI GOING TO GAME

Friends of Indiana and Purdue Universities Will Take Advantage of Special Train.

TEAMS ARE EVENLY MATCHED

Several local alumni of Indiana and Purdue universities expect to attend the football game which is to be played at Bloomington, Saturday between the elevens of these institutions. The Indianapolis alumni of Indiana have arranged to hold their special train until ten o'clock Saturday morning in order that those out in the State who want to make the trip will have time to get into the Capital city to catch this train. Returning from Bloomington the train will be run in two sections, one leaving at six p. m. and the other at ten p. m. Two special trains will carry two thousand rooters for the Old Gold and Black from Lafayette, and Indiana alumni are running a special from Evansville in addition to the one from Indianapolis.

The athletic authorities at Bloomington have arranged seats for 6000 people around the gridiron. Two weeks ago it appeared that Indiana was certain of a victory, but the remarkable showing of Purdue against Rose Poly has stirred the old fighting spirit of the Boilermakers until they are now confident of holding Sheldon's men on even terms.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter,
For Nov. 21, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Cor. xi, 21, to xii, 10—Memory Verses, 24, 25—Golden Text, II Cor. xii, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The topic of this lesson is "Paul's Story of His Life," and yet that seems to be more fully told in his testimony before Agrippa in chapter xxvi, or even in his address from the castle stairs in chapter xxii, or more concisely in Phil. iii, or more fully by putting these three records together. The verses assigned us for today's study are rather a resume of his sufferings, with special reference to his being stoned to death at Lystra and his marvelous experience at that time. With such a record as that in chapter xi, 23-28, who is there today who has anything that can begin to compare with it in the matter of suffering for Christ's sake? At the time of his conversion the Lord said to Ananias, "I will show him how great things he must suffer for my sake" (Acts ix, 16), and this seems in our eyes as if He had filled the bill quite fully. Let us understand a little more fully the service of suffering as set forth in Rom. v, 3; Phil. i, 29; Col. i, 24; Rev. ii, 10, and elsewhere. It is made unmistakably plain that by the suffering of Christ in our stead, as our sin bearer, all who receive Him are made meet to be partakers of the inheritance, having in Him redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins (Col. i, 12-14).

There is, however, another phase of the suffering question in Heb. ii, 10, where it speaks of bringing us to His glory and of Him as the captain of our salvation being made perfect through sufferings. He is our high priest, who can be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, for He was in all points tempted like as we are (Heb. iv, 15). Now, since by His atonement He has made us kings and priests unto God, having washed us from our sins in His own blood, and we are to reign with Him on the earth (Rev. i, 5, 6; v, 10), we must remember that to be fitted to reign with Him we must suffer with Him (II Tim. ii, 12), by His atonement made fit for his presence, but by our suffering with Him here as His redeemed ones made fit to fill the place in His kingdom which He is preparing for us while He prepares us for it; hence we have a little light on the great mystery of the believer's sufferings as seen everywhere in greater or less degree.

If by His grace we are patient under all our trials we are winning for ourselves a special crown—the crown of life (Jas. i, 12; Rev. ii, 20), which we shall have to cast at His feet in that day. And not only so, but the power of Christ is seen upon us to His glory, the patience under trial as it could not otherwise be seen. Paul therefore says, "Most gladly will I glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me" (xii, 9). This is something like Phil. i, 20, where he says, "Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death."

While Paul had unusual fellowship in suffering, he had also some unusual revelations. Not only was his conversion unique, but the various manifestations of the Lord to him afterward were very remarkable, as was also the revelation of "the mystery" of which he so often speaks. He tells us that, lest the abundance of the revelations should unduly exalt him, there was given him a thorn in the flesh, the messenger of Satan, to buffet him. He tells us that he asked the Lord three times to deliver him from it, but the answer was, "My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness" (verse 9). I do not know how we can be quite sure as to what this thorn in the flesh was till Paul himself shall some day tell us if it is best for us to know. Some one has said that we are not told what it was in order that if any one has a thorn in the flesh he may find a bit of comfort in supposing that that was just what Paul had. This certainly is true—that if any believer has a physical infirmity and cannot get it removed by prayer or by the physician's skill then the answer to Paul must be accepted and the Lord trusted for grace to bear it meekly for His glory, for, while these words were said to Paul, they were written for us.

As to the special vision and revelation of our lesson, it seems to have been about the time that Paul was stoned to death at Lystra, and it is quite probable that while Paul's dead body was being dragged out of Lystra (Acts xiv, 19) he was in the third heaven, or paradise, which he here describes, and saw and heard things that he could not put into earthly language. We have no record of anything that Lazarus of Bethany said when he came back from the dead, probably because words could not utter it. The best thing I have ever read on these heavenly realities is "The Trance of Rev. William Tennent," once a minister at Freehold, N. J., who was dead for three days and afterward preached the gospel for many years. It is a little tract published by Miss M. E.

A JOYFUL PASTIME.

It's Really a Pleasure to Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei.

It isn't a pleasure to saturate your stomach with vile nostrums or to shock the tender membrane of the nose and throat with disagreeable sprays and douches.

But strange to say there are a few thousand people who do not keep abreast of the times who are hoping against hope that these ancient methods will rid them of catarrh.

If the readers of the Rushville Republican who suffer from catarrh want to banish this vile and disgusting disease forever go to John's Drug Store today and get a complete Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey) outfit for $1.00.

It doesn't cure it won't cost you a cent because F. B. Johnson & Co. will give you your money back.

Hyomei is so simple and pleasant to use, pour a few drops from the bottle into the inhaler and breathe in. As it passes over the membrane it soothes the raw membrane and kills the catarrh germs. Don't experiment longer. Leading druggists everywhere sell Hyomei for catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc. Drop a postal for our free book, Booth's Famous People, Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Munson, 77 Bible House, New York. The foundation of all that is beautiful in this lesson is to be able to say, "I know a man in Christ" (xii, 2), for unless we are in Christ we are certainly lost, but being in Him all is well for time and eternity. Then to be able to say truly "Christ liveth in me" (Gal. ii, 20), as is the privilege of every true believer, insures the manifestation of His life in us.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 21, 1909.

Topic.—The blessing of a thankful heart.—Neh. viii, 1-12.

The walls and the temple of Jerusalem at this part of Jewish history had been rebuilt by Nehemiah and Ezra, who had each made two trips from Babylon to do this work. The law of Moses had been arranged by Ezra, the priest, and the people of Israel had become possessors of their various homes. Under these auspicious circumstances "the people gathered themselves together as one man into the street that is before the water gate." They asked Ezra to bring the book of the law of Moses. This he did and, assisted by others, read it and explained it to the people. "They read in the book in the law of God distinctly and gave the sense and caused them to understand the reading." Nehemiah and Ezra and the Levites therefore declared that day a holy day, or holiday, and urged them to joy and thanksgiving, "and all the people went their way to eat and to drink and to send portions and to make great mirth because they had understood the words that

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Rushville Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Rushville citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Rushville by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Frank Vredenburg, 211 Jackson street, Rushville, Ind., says: I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, knowing them to be an excellent remedy for weak kidneys. One of my children was afflicted with a kidney weakness and I was told by a physician that nothing could be done. However, when I read that Doan's Kidney Pills were curing other people of similar troubles, I obtained a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. They soon relieved the trouble and at the present time the child is not bothered in the least."

were declared unto them"—joyous thanksgiving and gratitude that the law of God, so long lost and forgotten, had been read to them and explained to them in such a way that they could understand it. Would that the American people at this season of thanksgiving would more fully appreciate the word of God and be filled with greater desires to have it read and explained to them.

The duty of thanksgiving requires no argument. Ingratitude, whether to God or man, is looked upon as a trait of baseness in the character of any one who practices it. This is especially so in our relation to God, from whom in this final analysis all blessings of life come. The appropriateness of appointed thanksgiving days is also recognized, particularly as applied to nations. In our individual lives and hearts every day should be a day of thanksgiving to God. Israel had regular days for national thanksgiving. The Passover was in reality a thankful remembrance of their deliverance from the land of Egypt and from the house of bondage. Pentecost was a feast of thanksgiving for the first fruits of the harvest, which were a prophecy of a full harvest, and when the harvest itself had been gathered in the feast of the tabernacles expressed gratitude to God for it. Then, upon particular occasions, such as the one before us, especial days of thanksgiving were appointed. Our national Thanksgiving day is a permanent one by an unwritten law of our land. The nation should make it not merely a holiday, but a holy day, when in the midst of our feasting and mirth we should acknowledge the hand of God in our national life and express our sincerest gratitude unto Him for blessings past and present and implore before His throne their continuance for the future.

Thankfulness of heart and of life have a reflex influence. They give to the one who is truly thankful increased blessings. Every time we recall the blessings of God and thank Him for them we experience again the joy that possessed us when they were first bestowed upon us. The thankful heart increases its blessings, while the unthankful one diminishes them. There is joy in the possession of a spirit of thankfulness and also a joy in expressing it. If we would get the very best out of the good things of life we should therefore be constantly thankful for the benefits and blessings divinely bestowed upon us.

But thanksgiving must not end with the heart or the tongue. It should extend to good deeds. The Israelites were not exhorted to "eat the fat and drink the sweet" alone, but to share with those who were not provided for. This they did, and their joy was increased thereby. Are you thankful for the blessings and benefits of the past year? Then express it by sending portions to others not so richly blessed. In so doing you will receive a blessing and give another cause for joy and thanksgiving.

The Church's Factory.

No church can live long that lives on its past, however long that past may be. A church lives through the supply of fresh workers, just as a body lives through the supply of fresh blood corpuscles. And just as the body must have a factory—the stomach and the heart and the lungs—for making the fresh blood corpuscles and distributing them where they are needed, so the church must have a factory for making new workers and fitting them into their places in the church, the places that the older church workers are so rapidly leaving vacant. And so a society of Christian Endeavor is of value not in proportion as its members make eloquent speeches, but as they are training themselves to speak for Christ in the years to come. We are not to consider the amount of their gifts to missions, but whether they are training themselves to give liberally and wisely as their power to give increases. We are not to regard the value of what they do in their committees so much as the efficiency of that committee work in training them for similar work when they grow up. And so of all the rest of our Christian Endeavor activities. What is the product of our Christian Endeavor factory? The church has a right to know. We shall be wise if we look to it with care.—Amos R. Wells in Christian Endeavor World.

Hernly's Plan of Boosting a City

Man Who Wants To Come Here Talks Straight From Shoulder

Here is a sample of the way Charles S. Hernly booms a town. It is taken from the Evansville Journal News: With conviction in his big voice, Charles Hernly, of New Castle, Ind., famous throughout the United States as a developer of Indiana cities, told 250 men at the E. B. A. hall Tuesday night that he believed Evansville had a big future before it, that it was possible to double the population in a short time, that it was possible to bring enormous manufacturing to the city at once.

He not only said he believed these things but he told the 250 business men—who followed every word the developer spoke with the closest attention—why he believed them and backed up his statement with cold figures and plenty of data. He told how the manufacturing plants were to be brought here. And he said I was going to help.

"I have never been behind a losing proposition yet," said Mr. Hernly. "I won't play a losing game. I won't accept the problem of trying to develop a town which can not be developed. I have accepted this work of developing this city because I know it can be done. I have made an investigation, covering months, and I am certain that Evansville has the making of a great and wealthy city. I have proved this to the capitalists in and around Pittsburg.

"For five months I have had an office at the Hotel Henry in Pittsburg and the men in it have preached Evansville to the manufacturers there.

"I was asked to take hold of the proposition of developing Evansville by the West Side Business association. That was last May, after my investigations I see that the matter is too big for the West Side, or any one side of Evansville.

"It is up to the East side and the North side and the South side and the West side to get together.

"It concerns every man in the city—no matter what part he lives in.

"We've all got together, shoulder to shoulder, and pull off our coats, and work. And if we do there is no end to the wealth which we can bring to Evansville.

"We must increase the tonnage of this city. It is tonnage that makes a town. Every big, successful factory which you can bring to this city means wealth for your city. It is worth paying for. It is a commodity that you cannot afford to be without.

"You will hear people say that factories oughtn't to require houses. The first factories that located here did not, and it's not fair that others should be given help, they say.

"But it is the city which is willing to pay for what it gets which gets things.

"A good factory is a commodity and you have got to pay for an amount and you have got to pay for an honest commodity. People won't give it to you.

"If you want these big factories you must offer inducements.

"The capitalists won't fall all over themselves coming to Evansville unless you show them that they can't afford to stay away.

"The plan of the West Side Business association is to sell lots in a tract of 1000 acres and, with money gotten from the lot sale, to bring these big factories here.

"The value of the lots will double, and more, as soon as the factories come. The man who invests in the lots will not only be helping Evansville. He will be making the best of investments.

"I have helped Muncie and New Castle and Kokomo and Terre Haute and Vincennes to grow, and I am going to help you—if you will set your shoulder to mine and work.

"It will be hard work.

"Nothing that is easy is worth doing.

"No big thing was ever accomplished without lots of sacrifice, and hard work, and resourcefulness.

"And there must be concert of action. We must get together and drop all jealousies if we are going to win what we want to win.

"We must take the bowie knives out of our boot legs.

It won't do for one man to be constantly thinking whether man is trying to overreach him.

"You remember Barnum's plan to have a big cage filled with all the beasts of the earth, living together in harmony. Mr. Barnum was enthusiastic about that idea. He carried it out. He got the cage and he filled it with tigers and lions and wild cats and lambs and all the other beasts, wild and tame.

"A few weeks after he started the experiment a friend asked him how it was getting on.

"O, fine," said Barnum. "It's working out great. But it takes a lot of lamb."

"That's the way it is with lots of cities. It takes a lot of lamb. Somebody is always trying to eat somebody else.

"We've got to get rid of that way of looking at things.

"To make a city grow takes as much unity and action as that of a colony of bees.

"Let us get together and work. With an office in Pittsburg, and one in New York if necessary, let us preach Evansville to eastern capital and show them what we have here, and offer them sites, bonus, what-not—anything which we have to offer them which will induce them to locate.

"The opportunities which present themselves to you are boundless.

"But you must believe this if you are going to succeed. You must get the doubt out of your minds. No man ever won in a big undertaking when he started with the conviction he was going to fail.

"I have never failed in my life, and I'm not going to. I have been knocked down a lot, but I always got up and ended by getting into the band wagon.

"We are going to win in this matter. We are going to make Evansville a great city—bigger than Indianapolis—if you decide that it can be done, and join together and work.

"The steel corporations are ready to join hands with you. They are intensely interested in what Evansville has to offer, as the result of five months of 'preaching Evansville' at their very doors. Will you join hands with them?

"If you do not believe that they are interested take a trip over to Pittsburg and find out. I wish I could have brought some of the men I have talked with here tonight.

"There is some doubt whether Evansville is a richer city than it was three years ago. Vanderburgh county is keeping pace with some of the other counties of Indiana. But it has natural riches greater than any of them.

"There ought to be 500 coke ovens around Evansville.

"There ought to be 25 blast furnaces.

"I am going to stay here several days. Tomorrow I want a committee, made up of members of these associations to meet and make plans. We want definite plans. When they are made we will carry them out and we will make Evansville enter on an era of growth such as she has never known. The time is ripe."

AMUSEMENTS

The film at the Palace tonight will be "Fantine," a great dramatic subject. It is a Vitagraph film. The illustrated song is "Pennyland."

The Star Grand will present a new Biograph tonight entitled "The Restoration," or "A Doctor's Plan to Retrieve a Shattered Mind." The world's history would contain many blank pages if it were not for the frequent occasions of misconception of intent. How many commendable deeds have been misconstrued and made the genesis of woe. Wrong impressions, converted ideas and hallucinations have formed the greater part of the causes of calamity, and there is no stronger ideological force than jealousy, and jealousy thrives most in the fagged brain. This subject is rather a novel idea, logical as well as ingenious. Mr. Earl Robertson will sing, "When Sweet Marie Was Sweet Sixteen."

Notice to Property Owners.

Rushville, Ind., Nov. 19, 1909.
To Whom It May Concern:

Notice is hereby given by the Common Council of the city of Rushville,
Indiana, that on the 16th day of November, 1909, they approved an assessment roll showing the prima facie assessment for the following described public improvement, as authorized by resolution August 3d, 1909, for the improvement of the North side of West Ninth street, from Sexton street to the Lake Erie &
Western railroad, by the construction of cement sidewalk, stone curb and cement gutter. Persons interested in or affected by said improvement are hereby notified that the Common Council of said city has fixed the 7th day of December, 1909, as a date upon which remonstrances will be received, or heard, against the amount assessed against each piece of property described in said roll and will determine the question as to whether such lots or tracts of land have been or will be benefited in the amounts named on said roll, or in a greater or less sum than that named on said roll.

Said assessment roll showing said prima facie assessments, with the names of owners and descriptions of property subject to be assessed is on file and may be seen at the office of the city clerk of said city.

SAMUEL G. GREGG,
City Clerk.

CHAPTER XVI.

KITTY DROPS A BOMB.

"WHAT'S the matter, Jack? Whenever you smoke your cigar goes out. You read a newspaper by staring over the top of it. You leave your watch under the pillow and have to hike back for it. You are absent-minded. Now, what's the matter?"

Hillard sighed heavily. "There you go again!" laughed Merrihew. "You tack that sigh to everything you say."

Hillard was human. He might be deeply in love, but this had not destroyed his healthy sense of humor, so he laughed at himself.

"It's a curious business—the dinner, the mask, the veil, the mystery," went on Merrihew. "I tell you frankly, Jack, something's wrong, and we shall both live to find it out."

"But what? Heaven on earth, what? Haven't I tried to figure it out till my brain aches? I haven't gone forward a single inch."

"What shall you do?" "Nothing. When we have seen Florence we'll drop down to Perugia and Rome, then up to the Italian lakes, after that home, if you say."

Hillard looked at his watch. "Only 9," he said. "Let's go over to Gambrinus' and hear the music."

The Hotel Italia was but a few blocks from the Piazza Vittorio Emanuele. They found the Halle crowded, noisy and interesting. From the Halle they went downstairs and through the billiard room. Under the arcade they found a small table. Presently two officers, one in the resplendent uniform of a colonel, went past. Hillard's pulse was tuned to a quicker stroke.

"I hope he doesn't see us," he said, tipping his panama over his eyes. Merrihew scowled fiercely.

"So long as he doesn't observe us," said Hillard, "I have no interest in his affairs." Had he none? he wondered.

"He is coming this way again, Dan." Hillard changed his mind. He pushed back his hat. If the man with the scar saw him and spoke he would reply. The colonel, glancing at the pair, halted. He turned and spoke to his brother officer. The man with the scar stepped over to the table and leaned with his hands upon it. There was a savage humor in his dark eyes.

"Did I not tell you that we should meet again?" he said to Hillard. "Are you speaking to me?" asked Hillard. Every muscle in his body was alert and ready.

"Certainly I am speaking to you. This is the fellow," speaking to his companion, at the same time drawing off his gloves.

"I object to the word fellow," said Hillard. "Besides, I don't know you."

"Ah, discreet!" sneered the man with the scar.

"Colonel!" cried the subaltern as his senior smoothed the gloves and placed them carefully in his left hand.

"Oh, I am calm! But I have been dreaming of this moment. Now!" The colonel readdressed Hillard. "You meddled with an affair that night in which you had no concern."

"Are you quite sure?" "Yes, I am sure. And yet as I think it over, as I recollect the woman," went on the colonel, with a smile which was evil and insinuating. "In Monte Carlo I was practically alone. Here it is Florence. Doubtless you will understand." He struck out with the gloves.

But they never touched Hillard's face. His hand caught the assailant's wrist and with a quick jerk brought him halfway across the table. The Italian cried faintly. Hillard spoke tensely: "Listen carefully, signor. I understand perfectly, but I shall fight no duel. It is an obsolete fashion. A blackguard I know you to be. If you ever address me again I promise to give you a whipping which will have a lasting effect upon your future actions. If that will not serve I shall appeal to the police."

But they never touched Hillard's face. His hand caught the assailant's wrist and with a quick jerk brought him halfway across the table. The Italian cried faintly. Hillard spoke

Through the crowd the ever present carabinieri shouldered their way. The colonel motioned them to stand back, which they did with a sign of respect. This sign gave Hillard some food for thought. His antagonist was evidently a personage of some importance.

The scar was vivid on the Italian's cheek. His companion laid a restraining hand on his arm. He nodded, and the two made off. Merrihew was for going back to the hotel. Hillard agreed.

"I wanted you to give him a good stiff punch," said Merrihew.

"We should have slept in the lockup overnight if I had. If our friend is left handed he'll be inconvenienced for a day or two. I put some force into that grip. You see, Dan, the Italian still fights his duels. It would have been a fine joke if I had been fool enough to accept his challenge. He would have put daylight through me at the first stroke."

"Did you notice how respectful the carabinieri were?"

"It set me thinking. Oh, I've a premonition that we haven't seen the last of this distinguished gentleman!"

After luncheon the next day they were entering the Via Tornabuoni when a young woman came out of a little millinery shop. Immediately Hillard stepped to one side of her and Merrihew to the other.

"You cannot run away this time, Kitty Killgrew!" cried Merrihew joyously.

"In the Villa Ariadne the wonderful fountain by Donatello was encircled by a deep basin in which many generations of goldfish swam about. Forming a kind of triangle about the basin were three ancient marble benches such as the amiable old Roman senators were wont to lounge upon during the heat of the afternoon. A maiden sat on one of these benches, her arms thrown out on either side of the crumbling back, her chin lowered and her eyes thoughtful.

Merrihew stole up from behind with all the care of a practiced hunter. Then he put his hands over her eyes. She struggled for a brief moment, then desisted.

"It is no puzzle at all," she declared. "I can smell horse, horse and again horse, Mr. Merrihew."

"Yes. I should have fetched along a sachet powder. I remember but one thing, Kitty, and that's you." He sat down beside her. "There's no doubt that I reek of the animal. But the real question is, How much longer are you going to keep me dangling on the string? I've been coming up here for ten days now."

She had dressed expressly for this moment. But Merrihew was not going to be told so.

"But am I to be blamed if, after having refused twice to marry you, you still persist?" Kitty assumed a judicial air.

"But you haven't refused me this time."

"Because I wish to make it as easy as possible for you." Which of the two meanings she offered him was lost upon Merrihew.

"Come, let us be sensible for ten minutes."

Merrihew laid his watch on the bench beside him.

Kitty laughed rollickingly, for beneath her furbelows and ribbons and trinkets she was fuoridly happy and light of heart. Her letter had come. She was only waiting for the day of sailing.

Merrihew reached out and caught her hand.

"Oh, I said let us be sensible for ten minutes!" she demurred.

"Kitty, will you marry me?"

"Could you take care of me?"

"I'll work."

"Oh, if you were only rich!"

"You don't mean that, Kitty."

"No," relenting. "I don't. But you bother me."

"All right. This will be the last time. Will you marry me? I will do all a man can to make you happy. I love you with all my heart. I know. You're afraid. You've an idea that I am fickle. But not this time, Kitty; not this time. Will you?"

Then without further hesitance, in-

Grows Hair on
Bald Heads*A Remedy That Costs Nothing if it Fails to do as Claimed.

Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science and in connection with Beta Naphthol, also a powerful antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, and thus creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.

Pilocarpine is a well known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease. Yet it is not a coloring matter or dye.

The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpine, combined with pure alcohol because of its cleansing and antiseptic qualities. It makes the scalp healthy, nourishes the hair, revitalizes the roots, supplies hair nourishment and stimulates a new growth.

We want you to try a few bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except of course where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Teams to Disband.

Washington, Nov. 19.—As a result of the death of Archer Christian, the University of Virginia left halfback, who lost his life here as a result of injuries received during the game with Georgetown last Saturday, the board of education of this city has placed a ban on football in the public schools for the present. Notice has been given the high schools in Washington that their teams must disband for the season.

DROPPED FROM ROLLSChristian Science Church Excommunicates Mrs. Stetson.

New York, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, for two decades supreme in the affairs of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in New York, and recently freely mentioned as the successor of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy to the head of the Christian Science church, has received notification that she has been excommunicated from the church by the directors of the mother church in Boston. She had just returned to her home after the three days' ordeal of examination before the heads of the church upon charges of malpractice and malversion of the faith, when the report of the Boston directors was brought to her. During her absence in Boston in behalf of her church, which two weeks ago had absolved her of all the charges upon which she had been admonished by the mother church, the congregation over which she had ruled supreme until the last few months had adopted a resolution subscribing its complete fealty to Mrs. Eddy and the church heads who united in forcing her excommunication.

Of her large circle of students, some of whom had been admonished because of their false doctrines at the same time that Mrs. Stetson had received her first admonition, there has not been one who raised a dissenting voice against the unanimous declaration of the congregation supporting the supreme authorities of the church against Mrs. Stetson. A statement was given out by the board of directors at Boston setting forth the fact that the offense proved against Mrs. Stetson had been two-fold: That she had been guilty of working against members of the faith who were not her personal followers, and guilty of teaching and practicing that which was not Christian Science.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a soft "sage tea." When ever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is no "cure-all" humbug, but is made for just one purpose—to cure the weaknesses, painful disorders and irregularities of the womanly organism. It is

THE ONE REMEDY for these ailments, sold by druggists, devised and gotten up by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in treating woman's peculiar diseases and is carefully adapted to work in harmony with her delicate organization, by an experienced and skilled specialist in her maladies.

THE ONE REMEDY for woman's ailments, sold by druggists, which contains neither alcohol (which to most women is the rankest poison) or other injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY for women, the composition of which is so perfect and good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient, in plain English on its outside bottle-wrapper, and attest the correctness of the same under oath—thus taking its users into their full confidence, and warranting physicians in prescribing it in their worst cases, which they do very largely.

It is foolish as well as dangerous to take medicine the composition of which you know nothing. Therefore, don't let a dishonest druggist prevail on you to accept a secret nostrum for this professionally approved medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. Every ingredient in its make-up has the strongest indorsement of the leading medical men of all the several schools of practice. Send postal card request for free Booklet of same.

Every woman may write fully and confidentially to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and may be sure that her case will receive careful, conscientious, confidential consideration, and that the best medical advice in the world will be given to her, absolutely free.

In addition to this free advice, Dr. Pierce will send a fine French cloth-bound copy of his great 1000-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," to any woman who will send 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They work in harmony with "Favorite Prescription" when needed as a gentle laxative. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

THIS BANKER'S UNIQUE RECORD

Broke About All the Banking Laws There Are.

FAST PAGE OF PHIL ALLEN, JR.

Reports Made to the Comptroller of the Currency Show That the Looting of the Bank at Mineral Point, Wis., Was Just About as Complete a Job as Was Ever Pulled Off in This Country—A Complaisant Set of Directors Gave Allen a Free Hand, and He Knew How to Do the Rest.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Some time ago the comptroller of the currency made up his mind that Phil Allen, Jr., vice president of the failed First National bank of Mineral Point, Wis., had come more nearly violating every statute in his work of looting the bank than any other official of a failed bank in the history of the comptroller's office.

According to the reports of the receiver Mr. Allen, who is now under indictment as the principal agent in the work of looting the bank, has been guilty not only of the usual offenses against the national banking act, such as falsification of records, but it has been proved to the satisfaction of the receiver as shown in his report to the comptroller that Allen committed forgery and larceny.

Allen, the receiver says, took the securities which farmers and other confiding persons brought to him for safe keeping and sold them and converted the proceeds to his own use. He forged the names of prominent citizens of Mineral Point and vicinity to any number of notes, says the receiver, and took the proceeds. But the comptroller of the currency was hardly prepared to learn that Allen had forged the name of his pastor to a note for $200 which was found among the assets of the bank.

Receiver Scofield, in a report sent to the treasury department, advised the comptroller of the currency of the find he had made and added that he had decided the looting of the bank appeared to be almost complete. The creditors may not receive more than 10 per cent on their claims. The amount of forged paper may reach the sum of $500,000.

Allen was a religious worker as well as a banker. When not engaged in high finance, he was performing his duties as an officer of the church and superintendent of the Sunday school. The people seemed to have had unlimited confidence in him. The directors of the bank believed in him so implicitly that they seldom met, and according to the receiver's report had not held a meeting for six months prior to the failure of the bank.

A so-called "credit committee" of the directors, whose nominal duty it was to pass on the securities and collateral in the bank, reported to the receiver that the members had never held a meeting. They explained that they had full confidence in Mr. Allen.

ADEPT WITH POISONS

Prof. Wheeler Mixed a Dose That Did Its Work Quickly.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 19.—After mixing a fatal dose to end his life, Prof. Wilfred C. Wheeler of the University of Illinois walked to the campus and took the poison. A short time afterward his body was found and near it an empty phial.

As one of the experts in chemistry, Prof. Wheeler was an adept with poisons and selected a drug that would kill quickly and leave little trace. That Prof. Wheeler evidently was under mental stress was known by his associates in the faculty. The inquest may disclose the secret worry that preyed on him. Wheeler was about thirty years old and had a family. He came here from Lawrence, Kan.

He Must Like the Job.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 19.—Dressed in baby clothes, with a baby bonnet on his head and seated in a baby carriage, Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick rode through the streets of Augusta, announcing that he intends to be a candidate to succeed himself. The baby carriage in which Hardwick was seated was drawn by two goats and Hardwick handled the reins over them. At every stop Hardwick would arise and announce that he intends to run for congress.

Postponed Until Tomorrow.

Cincinnati, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Jeanette Ford, the alleged woman in the case in connection with the shortage of C. L. Warriner, former treasurer of the Big Four, appeared in Magistrate Meyer's court in answer to the charge of receiving stolen money. The hearing was postponed until tomorrow for further preparation of evidence.

Respite For Labor Leaders.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The court of appeals of the District of Columbia has granted a stay until Nov. 29 of the issuance of the mandate sending President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor to jail for contempt of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

TWO AMERICANS EXECUTED

Summary Action on the Part of President of Nicaragua Toward Two American Citizens Has Led to a Peremptory Demand on the Part of Secretary Knox For an Explanation—In the Meantime Two Fighting Vessels Have Been Dispatched to Nicaraguan Waters to Stand by in Case of Need.

Managua, Nicaragua, Nov. 19.—Le Roy Cannon and Leonard Grace, the Americans who were executed for complicity in the rebellion, were responsible, it is charged, for placing dynamite mines which were intended to blow up government steamers laden with troops which entered the river at Greytown. One of the mines planted by Cannon and Grace exploded fifteen yards from the steamer Diamante.

Washington, Nov. 19.—An explanation of the execution by the Nicaraguan troops of two American citizens, Leonard Grace and Le Roy Cannon, who were charged with participating in the present revolution against the Nicaraguan government has been demanded by the United States. Secretary of State Knox has sent a diplomatic note to Senor Rodriguez, the charge d'affaires of Nicaragua in this city, demanding an explanation. The note was short and polite from a diplomatic viewpoint, but was emphatic in dictation. Instructions were also forwarded to Henry Caldera, the American vice consul at Managua, asking for a complete report in the case.

Secretary Knox's ultimatum will be backed up by a naval demonstration on both the Atlantic and Pacific.

The cruiser Des Moines, now at Colon, has been ordered to the Atlantic side of Nicaragua. The gunboat Vicksburg, now at San Jose de Guatemala, will go at once to Corinto, on the Pacific side. Several more vessels are available for duty in Nicaraguan waters if needed. In addition there is a force of about 500 marines in the canal zone that can be hurried to Nicaragua in case of emergency.

The first dispatch announcing the capture of the two Americans was received from Vice Consul Caldera. The specific charge against them was not reported and the dispatch did not say whether they had been given a legal trial. Mr. Caldera said he had appealed to President Zelaya for a commutation of the sentences. President Zelaya refused this request, saying that the sentences were final. A second dispatch received at the department a few hours later said that it was reported in Managua that the two Americans had been executed. Mr. Caldera added that he had no reason not to believe the report was correct.

As soon as these dispatches reached the state department the instructions to naval vessels to proceed to the Nicaraguan coast were sent out by Secretary Meyer. A diplomatic note was also sent to Senor Rodriguez, indefinitely postponing the official presentation of Senor Isidoro Hazera, the new Nicaraguan minister to the United States. Senor Hazera arrived in this city several days ago and made a formal call Wednesday on Secretary Knox to arrange for the presentation of his credentials.

Le Roy Cannon is a native of Pennsylvania. He has been in Central America for several years. This is not the first time he has been involved in the vortex of Central American politics. Several years ago, during the last revolution in Honduras, he was captured by President Davila of Honduras and imprisoned in Tegucigalpa. President Davila intended to execute him, but through the good offices of the American minister he was released.

The antecedents of Leonard Grace are not known here to any of the members of the Latin American section.

No Word Has Yet Been Received of Colonel Astor's Missing Yacht.

New York, Nov. 19.—Colonel John Jacob Astor's steam yacht Nourmahal, which it is surmised was caught in the West India hurricane that swatted the island of Jamaica and broke cable communication, has not been heard from since she steamed from Kingston. Her destination after leaving Kingston was Porto Rico, according to the plans of Colonel Astor. Cable communication between New York and Porto Rico has not yet been resumed.

AMERICAN GIRL IS FORCIBLY PUMP-FED

Miss Alice Paul's Ordeal In British Prison.

London, Nov. 19.—Miss Alice Paul of Philadelphia, the American suffragette who was sentenced to a month's imprisonment in Holloway jail for making a scene at the lord mayor's banquet at the Guild hall on Nov. 10, has refused to take food and is being forcibly pump-fed. A fellow prisoner who has just been released says the shrieks of Miss Paul as she is being fed can be heard all over the building. The Woman's Social and Political union has made an appeal to Americans in London to make a protest to the government against the treatment of Miss Paul.

The Evening News says it learns from a reliable source that the suffragettes who were sent to jail in Bristol for breaches of the peace during the recent visit of Winston Churchill, president of the board of trade, have adopted a disconcerting method of protesting against their treatment. They have refused to don prison clothes and insist on remaining in puris naturalibus. They pass their time in singing the suffragette's Marseillaise.

Big Song Hit

"WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS"

"WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS" introduced by GERTRUDE HOFFMANN in "THE MIMIC WORLD." Complete piano, words and music of this big song all included in the new "TETRAZZINI SINGS" is the hit of the Schubert production, and publishing rights of this song have been secured from The Trebus Publishing Company, Publishers of all Schubert Musical attractions.

MR. EDWARD LASKA, General Manager of THE TREBUS PUBLISHING CO., says: "WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS" is one of our best sellers and the Music Publishers were very reluctant in consenting to the publication of this song in the newspapers. I am sure it will meet with favor among your readers."

Addison Burkhardt, who wrote the lyrics of this song, is the writer of "The Runaways," and although one of the youngest he is one of the best known lyric writers in the country.

GERTRUDE HOFFMANN is famous the world over for her imitations, and she was one of the first to popularize the Salome dance in America.

The three big song hits in "THE MIMIC WORLD" are: "MY LADY WINE," "THE RAG-TIME MUSIC MAN" and "WHEN TETRAZZINI SINGS," so we can assure our readers of a musical treat this week.

Probably the most delightful society event of the fall was the dance given by the U Go I Go club in the Modern Woodmen hall last evening. There were about forty couples in attendance as well as a host of visitors who held down the chairs on the side lines. The dancers tripped the "light fantastic" until the wee small hours of the morning. Prof. Bush of Connersville was in attendance and directed the dances. He also put on the Polonaise dance which was used at the big Thanksgiving dance here last year. It is in the nature of grand march with the couples carrying an imitation floral design over their heads. The music was furnished by Paul Williams of Morristown and Ralph Harrold. The club will give a Christmas dance and expect to make it better than ever. Among the guests from a distance were: Miss Jennie Powell of Anderson; Mrs. Charles Albert Neal of Seattle, Wash.; Misses Mazie and Edith Miller, Bessie Schrader, Maria Sheldon, and Arthur Nelson, Harry Griffin, Robert Worland, John Kock, Paul Sisco and Will Doyle of Connersville, and Miss Mary Walter Glover of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Interesting Notes By the Preacher-Editor

Poison! poison! who's got the poison? The question is not answered, but there are a few here who have suffered at his hands, who swear that if they discover the "guinea" that "monkeyed" with their canines, they will make him look like "the Last of the Mohicans." Ed. Scott's was the last poisoned, but did not get enough to kill him. Harrie Jones, Rushville, Ind., has gone into winter quarters with the following horses in his stable: Gordon Prince, Jr., 2:07 1/4, Hazel Grattan, 2:13 1/4, Laura Jones, 2:13 1/4, Frankfort Boy, 2:15 1/4, Idol Rex, 2:15 1/4, Cherry Blossom, 2:17 1/4, Lee Allerton, 2:19 1/4, Pete L., 2:23 1/4, Princess Adria, 2:16 1/4, and several good green trotters and pacers.

One of the most promising pacers for next season is in the stable of Harrie Jones, Rushville, Ind., owned by J. C. Sipe of Indianapolis. It is the bay horse, Kinney Neath, by McKinney. This horse was sick the greater portion of the past season, but this fall under unfavorable circumstances Mr. Jones worked him a mile in 2:10 3/4, a half in 1:03 1/4, with a quarter in 30 1/2 seconds. Mr. Sipe also has a three-year-old pacer by Sidney Dillon that in the same hands worked a mile in 2:18 1/2, a half in 1:07 1/4, and a last quarter in 32 seconds.

Let Us Get Together

You Have Money
And Want Shoes
We Have Shoes
And Want Money

But this is not the reason you should buy your shoes of us, just because we want to sell you, but because we have shoes that were bought right, made right, fit right, look right, at the right price. Shoes that are as good as modern shoe making can make them, and this is saying a great deal. Suppose you look them over. It will cost you nothing to look.

You'll be in the right store.
You'll get the right shoe.
You'll get the right fit.
You'll buy at right price and that's true

Those Coughing Spells

When they come on take a sip of

DR. BEHER'S EXPECTORANT

And if they do not stop you needn't pay for the syrup. We put up this remedy for the sole purpose of checking coughs and curing colds, etc. If it fails in any case we are willing to refund the cost to the purchasers. That's fair, is it not. Price, 25c and 50c Per Bottle. Trial Size FREE.
